

Policy Tune-Up for AI Considerations

Keep your policies aligned with the realities of AI usage

Existing policies, standards, and risk management processes were not built to account for how employees, developers, and third parties are using AI today. A standalone AI policy alone is often not enough.

Through our vGRC, organizations gain ongoing governance, risk, and compliance support that help ensure AI-related policy updates are not treated as a one-time exercise. We work closely with your team to identify where policies, governance processes, and risk management practices need to evolve to account for AI usage across the organization, aligning updates with emerging AI frameworks and industry expectations. From policy modernization and vendor risk management to governance oversight and compliance alignment, we help organizations operationalize AI governance in a way that supports innovation, reduces AI usage risks, and helps prevent governance gaps as AI adoption continues to evolve.
